Guided mountain tour

Guided mountain trekking Kungsleden

To trek in the Swedish mountains has been a valued recreation among the Swedes for many years. The clean air, the midnight sun and magnificent views have in recent years also attracted foreign guests to our unique mountains. The numerous trails ensure that you can walk for days without encountering anyone or any sign of civilisation. During this trek we will be following “Kungsleden”, the most known trail in Sweden, starting in Abisko and finishing in Nikkaluokta. We will hike over tall passes and through long valleys. We will stop by lakes so clear that you have never tasted anything like it. We will walk through Laplander’s camps and spend the night by the base of the highest peak in Sweden, Kebnekaise. It is an easy 9-day trek and our intentions are to spend each night in a cabin. You need no previous experience but should be of normal fitness. We will be walking an average of 16 km per day. Your guides have 25 years of experience in leading mountain trips. We stay in cabins along the route.

Day 1: Arrival at Kiruna. Your guide will meet you at the airport/train station. We will then head off to Oinakka, where we will check the equipment. If needed, extra equipment can be handed out. Valuables can be kept at your guide's camp. We will also offer advice and pointers that can be of value while preparing for the trek. After settling in and having a bite to eat we will take a look at the first stage of our trip. You will have time for your own preparations.

Day 2: After breakfast we will leave Oinakka head off to Abisko, 60 min by car. This is where we start our 12 km trek to Abiskojaure, leaving Abisko and civilisation behind. We start off slightly uphill before it levels out as we reach the valley floor.

Day 3: Our trek to Alesjaur today starts with a steep hill. When that is taken care of it is easy walking with spectacular surroundings as we walk through a valley. Today’s hike is 22 km.

Day 4: From Alesjaur we will make our way to Tjåkja cabin, which is one of the smallest cabins. Surrounded by a very particular landscape, the cabin is loftily situated and offers a magnificent view and a waterfall outside the window. This day's stretch is 13 km.

Day 5: Today will take us to the "Tjåktja-pass" the highest point of the trek at 1400 m. Spectacular views, well worth a picture. After the pass it's downhill and easy walking to Sälka.

Day 6: One of the easiest days. A 15 km hike through a beautiful valley on our way to Singi.

Day 7: Today we will be heading to Kebnekaise mountain station at the base of the highest peak in Sweden, Kebnekaise at 2119 m, and a fairly easy stretch of approximately 14km.

Day 8: May be used as a day of rest, but for those who wish to explore the surrounding mountain environment there is much to see. If the weather's good, a trek to the summit of Kebnekaise could be in order, or perhaps a walk to Tarfala to see the spectacular glaciers flowing into the valley, not to mention the singular flora and fauna of the vicinity.

Day 9: As we leave the mountain station and head off towards Nikkaluokta we can in good weather see the summit of Kebnekaise. Today's 18 km are mostly flat and downhill. After breakfast we will take our buss to Kiruna and then your guide will accompany you to the airport/train station.
